History & Culture | Unesco

Visit the impressive ruins of Mycenae, a UNESCO World Heritage Site. Enjoy a short scenic drive from Nafplio harbour to Mycenae through the beautiful orange and lemon groves of the Argolis.

First stop is the stunning Beehive Tomb on the Panagitsa hill at Mycenae. Schliemann, the famous amateur archaeologist who discovered both Troy and Mycenae, named the site the Tomb of Agamemnon or Treasury of Atreus because he believed it must have been the final resting place of Agamemnon, leader of the Greeks during the Trojan War. The tomb was built during the Bronze Age, around 1250 BC, and is the most impressive of the Mycenaean Tholos tombs that have survived. The tour continues to the citadel of ancient Mycenae on the spur of Mount Zara.

Follow the guide up the ramp of Ancient Mycenae and pass under the Lion's Gate, the main entrance to the Bronze Age citadel, Mycenae's magical castle! Everything here is reminiscent of Homer's Iliad: the Circle of Tombs, where Schliemann discovered the famous Golden Mask of Agamemnon, the Cyclopean Walls, the foundations of the palace where Agamemnon once lived, the Postern Gate and the entrance to the underground cistern. After the visit you will return to the picturesque harbour of Nafplio.

Please note: This tour involves extensive walking on uneven ground, with a lot of uphill walking and steps.

Dress for the weather, wear comfortable walking shoes and bring a hat and water.

The journey from Nafplio to Mycenae takes approximately 30 minutes each way.

A short drive will take you to the castle of Monemvasia. Begin your visit by passing through the only gate in the old town (Monemvasia's name comes from Moni, meaning 'single', and Emvasia, meaning 'entrance') and then discover the main sites of the early medieval town. Walk through the narrow, picturesque streets within the castle walls, so narrow that in many places only two people can walk side by side. Admire old stone houses and ancient Byzantine churches, many of which are in ruins. After the orientation tour, enjoy some free time before boarding the bus to reach Liotrivi Estate.

Liotrivi Estate is a fully restored manor house set amidst extensive olive groves. Its history begins in the Byzantine years as a winery producing the popular Malvasia wine. In the 19th century it became the summer residence of the important Ritsos family, then in 1929 it was transformed into a traditional olive press, which served the area until 1967. Today it is a unique cultural monument and a centre of activities that has preserved its historical identity.

Enjoy a guided tour of the Liotrivi Historic Mansion and learn about the traditions, history and culture of this unique place. The tour includes a guided tour of the olive grove - where you will learn about the cultivation of the olive tree - and a visit to the old olive oil mill, where you will learn about the traditional method of extra virgin olive oil production. Watch the expert chef knead and bake the traditional bread of the day in the wood-fired oven

Taste local products in the open air of the estate, under the olive trees. The snacks will be accompanied by local Monemvasia wines from the Mansion's collection. You will also have the opportunity to sample other local products such as honey, homemade jams and pastries, while learning their special traditional recipes.

Please note: This tour involves extensive walking on uneven ground, with steps and inclines to negotiate in the old town, while at Liotrivi Mansion there is limited walking on flat surface.

Dress for the weather, wear comfortable walking shoes and bring a hat and water.

The drive from Monemvasia to the Liotrivi Estate takes approximately 30 minutes.

History & Culture

Monemvasia is sometimes referred to as the "Gibraltar of the East". The city was fortified in the 13th century under Byzantine rule and established as a successful trading port. The Pope ruled the city for a short period from 1460-1464 before the Venetians took over. During the Venetian rule the city flourished, the population reached 30,000 and many houses and churches were built. Later the city fell to the Turks who ruled for almost 300 years.

Your tour begins with a short shuttle bus ride to the entrance of the fortified lower town.

Walk through the narrow streets within the walls, so narrow that in many places only two people can walk side by side. You will see the ruins of houses and Byzantine churches - most in ruins, with the fortunate exception of the Church of Christ Elkomenos. This cathedral dates back to the 13th century, but shows alterations made during the Venetian occupation of Monemvasia.

Enjoy some free time to explore the medieval town before returning to the port.

Please note: The transfer from the port to the city centre (and back) is by shuttle bus.

This tour involves extensive walking (2 hours) over cobbled and uneven surfaces with inclines and many steps to negotiate. Dress for the weather, wear comfortable walking shoes and bring a hat and water.

History & Culture

A coach awaits you at Pylos harbour for the 30-minute drive to the ruins of Nestor's Palace, built in the 13th century BC. King Nestor is mentioned in the Homeric epics as a wise old ruler who took part in the Trojan wars.

The palace was strategically located on the top of Ano Eglianos Hill, overlooking the coastline, and was surrounded by a fortified wall. Excavations have revealed some early remains dating from before 1300 BC, an Old Palace (1280 BC) and a New Palace (1250 BC).

The Palace of Nestor is considered to be the best preserved Mycenaean palace in Greece, although there are only a few remains at ground level. It was originally a two-storey building, decorated with frescoes, with facilities such as storerooms, workshops, baths, light wells, reception rooms and a sewage system. The buildings were almost completely destroyed by fire in the 12th century BC, but hundreds of clay tablets with inscriptions remained intact and were unearthed during excavations.

The tour continues with a visit to the fortress of Methoni on the southernmost tip of the western Peloponnese coast. This site has had a turbulent past, changing hands many times throughout its history. It was fortified as early as the 7th century BC and was used as a Byzantine fortress between 395 AD and 1204 AD. It then passed to the Venetians, who reinforced the fortifications in the 13th century, and was contested by the Turks and Venetians.

The Turks finally held the fortress until 1829, when they lost control of the Peloponnese during the Greek War of Independence. At the end of the visit you will reboard the coach for the short journey back to Pilos.

Please note: This tour involves extensive walking and standing over cobbles and uneven surfaces.

Dress for the weather, wear comfortable walking shoes and bring a hat and water.

Estimated travel times: 30 minutes between Pilos and the ruins of Nestor's Palace; 30 minutes between Nestor's Palace and Methoni; 15 minutes between Methoni and Pilos.

The Ggantija Temples are two prehistoric temples on Gozo, Malta's second largest island. One is believed to be the oldest stone structure in the world, predating the Great Pyramids and Stonehenge by several hundred years. The temples are dedicated to the Great Earth Mother, and the round, curving architecture symbolises the body of a powerful, full-figured mother goddess. The temples were a place of pilgrimage and sacrifice for the ancient peoples of Malta.

Take a walk around this fascinating site before heading to Victoria, the capital of Gozo. Nestled beneath a mighty old citadel, Victoria was named in honour of Queen Victoria's Golden Jubilee celebrations in 1887. The walled castle dominates the town and its fortifications offer a magnificent panoramic view of the whole island. Inside the citadel is the beautiful baroque cathedral, built on the site of a Roman temple dedicated to Juno.

After leaving Victoria, drive to the Basilica of Ta Pinu, which became a centre of pilgrimage in 1883 after a local woman heard the voice of the Virgin Mary while praying in the small chapel that once stood on the site. The monumental sanctuary that stands today was built between 1920 and 1931. You can explore the church and take in the sweeping coastal views.

Next stop is Fungus Rock, also known as Dwejra Seascape. Admire this unique rock formation before continuing along the east coast to take in the coastal views of Ramla l-Hamara (The Red Beach). On the drive back to the pier enjoy views of the island of Comino.
