History & Culture | Unesco

Ancient Ephesus is one of the best preserved ancient cities in the world. The city dates back to 3000 BC and at its height was the Roman capital of Asia Minor with a population of a quarter of a million. The remains of this important Ionian city bear witness to its glorious past. The well-preserved ruins include a theatre, Hadrian's Gate, Celsus' Library, Curetes' Street (one of the 3 main streets), Trajan's Fountain and the Odeon (used for poetry readings and award ceremonies). Ephesus became one of the most important cities of early Christianity.

Opposite the Temple of Hadrian, on the slopes of Mount Bulbul, you can see terraced houses where the roof of one house forms the terrace of the house above. These dwellings were also known as the "houses of the rich" because they were finely decorated with mosaics and frescoes and had heating and hot and cold water. Built during the reign of Augustus, they were inhabited until the 7th century, although in a modified form. Two of the houses have been fully restored.

Please note: This tour involves extensive walking on cobbled and uneven surfaces with inclines and steps to negotiate (approximately 2km with 300 steps in Ephesus).

Dress for the weather, wear comfortable walking shoes and bring a hat and water.

The journey between Kusadasi and Ephesus takes approximately 30 minutes each way.

Ephesus became one of the most important cities of early Christianity. Six years after the death of Christ, Ephesus was visited by the Virgin Mary and Saint John. Travel to the small house where Mary is said to have spent her last days, just a few kilometres from ancient Ephesus. The "House of the Virgin Mary" (Meryemana) is a small Byzantine church and a place of pilgrimage for both Christians and Muslims.

Stop at a local restaurant for lunch and continue your tour to Şirince, a pretty traditional hillside village of 600 inhabitants located 10 kilometres east of Ephesus. Şirince was settled when Ephesus was abandoned in the 15th century, but most of the houses date from the 19th century and are Greek-Ottoman in style.

Walk through the charming streets of the traditional village and enjoy some free time to explore the village and shop for souvenirs.

Please note: This tour involves extensive walking on cobbled and uneven ground with inclines and steps to negotiate (approx. 2km with 300 steps in Ephesus).

Dress for the weather, wear comfortable walking shoes and bring a hat and water. Inside the House of the Virgin Mary no photography is allowed and appropriate dress is required (no shorts or skirts above the knees, shoulders must be covered).

Driving time: between Kusadasi and Ephesus about 30 minutes; between Ephesus and the House of the Virgin Mary about 15 minutes; between the House of the Virgin Mary and Şirince about 30 minutes; between Şirince and Kusadasi about 40 minutes. The order of the visits is subject to change.

History & Culture | Unesco

The holy island of Patmos lies at the north-western end of the Dodecanese, between the islands of Ikaria and Leros. It is an island of rare beauty, captivating the visitor at first sight, with its picturesque harbour dominated by the imposing Monastery of St John on the hill above, set among gleaming white houses that form a startling contrast to its dark mass.

Leaving the harbour of Skala, drive to the impressive village of Chora. The Monastery of St John was built in 1088 by Blessed Christodoulos, the Servant of Christ.

The monastery has thick, high walls topped with battlements and a total of eight chapels. The courtyard is paved with pebbles and decorated with arches through which you can see the elaborate frescoes that decorate the entrance to the chapel. The museum houses a magnificent collection of jewelled chalices, crowns, crosses, old writings dating back to 1073, icons and religious paintings.

The tour then continues with a visit to the Cave of the Apocalypse (also known as the Cave or the Revelation), which takes the form of a 17th century monastery built around the cave where St John lived for two years (95-97 AD) and dictated his Gospel and the Book of Revelation.

After this memorable tour you will board the coach for the short journey back to the harbour.

Please note: This tour involves extensive walking on uneven ground and inclines, with approx. 100 steps to negotiate. Dress for the weather and wear comfortable walking shoes and bring a hat and water. Appropriate dress is required when visiting the monastery (no bare shoulders or shorts are allowed).

Just around the corner is the tiny monastery of Zoodochos Pigi, built in 1607, where you will discover a series of recently restored 17th century frescoes, the timeless art of icons and a beautifully carved icon wall.

On the ground floor there are food storage rooms, a cooking area with an original oven, water tanks for collecting rainwater and a private chapel. History & Culture | Unesco

The Cyclades are so called because they form a kiklo, or rough circle, around the sacred island of Delos.

Despite its small size, Delos played an important role in antiquity for both commercial and religious reasons and is now considered one of the most important mythological, historical and archaeological sites in Greece.

The sanctuary dedicated to Apollo on the island of his birth was a magnet for pilgrims and brought wealth to Delos, making it one of the most important religious sites in the Greek world. Today Delos is a desolate, windswept island; a 2001 census put the population at 14. Only tourists now flock to the shrines and temples, but a sense of awe and religious fervour still pervades the ruins.

The modern wharf leads directly into the archaeological site. You will walk into the heart of the sanctuary where you will see the Temple of Apollo, the sacred lake (now dried up) where Apollo was born, and the unique marble lions of Delos. You will also visit impressive Hellenistic mansions with magnificent mosaics decorating the floors and walls.

At the end of the guided tour you will have free time to explore the site and visit the museum (guided tours are not allowed inside the museum) until the boat departs for Mykonos.

Please note: This tour involves extensive walking (approximately 2 hours) over steps and uneven ground. There is some uphill walking which can be avoided by arrangement with the guide.

Dress for the weather, wear comfortable walking shoes and bring a hat and water. There is no shade at the site, take precautions against the sun.

The boat trip from Mykonos and Delos takes approximately 30 minutes (each way) on the local public ferry with a fixed timetable. The timing and duration of the tour may be subject to the ferry timetable (*: The excursion timing might not be compatible with lunch onboard the ship).

SPETSES - Time at leisure (no shore excursions organized)

Spetses is an island with a long naval tradition, famous for its significant contribution to the 1821 War of Independence. It was here that the revolutionary flag was raised on 3rd April 1821. A visit to Spetses begins as soon as you step off the tender at Dapia, which means “fortified place”; you can still see canons protruding from the high walls. Nowadays it is the island’s hub lined with cafés and shops, bustling with activity from morning to night
