The tour begins with a panoramic drive towards the village of Vilaflor and the Cañadas del Teide National Park. Declared a National Park in 1954, the Cañadas del Teide National Park encompasses an enormous volcanic crater, 48 km in circumference, from which rises Mount Teide, a legendary volcano of 3,718 metres that can be seen from many points on the island.

The park itself is located at an altitude of around 2000 metres and is characterised by arid landscapes that give the impression of having entered a lunar landscape or a western film. After a short stop at the Parador Hotel, continue to the Roques de García viewpoint to enjoy the breathtaking views over the lava fields of Unaca and admire the famous wind eroded rock formations. At the end of the tour you will return to the port of Los Cristianos in the south of the island.

Please note: This excursion includes a long drive (approx. 2:45 in total) on winding mountain roads.

This tour is not suitable for heart patients or people with breathing problems, due to altitude that will be reached (approx. to approx. 2000 meters above sea level).

Wear weather-appropriate clothes (warm clothing recommended) and comfortable walking shoes and bring water. It is forbidden to remove any stones or plants from the National Park.
