Panoramic | Nature | Unesco

The tour starts with a drive to the old colonial capital of La Laguna, set in the Aguere Valley and surrounded by beautiful scenery. From La Laguna, the route follows the foothills of the mountain range through the Esperanza pine forests and foothills to the Teide National Park. Declared a National Park in 1954, Cañadas del Teide National Park encompasses an enormous volcanic crater, 48 km in circumference, from which rises Mount Teide, a legendary 3,718 metre volcano that can be seen from many points on the island.

The park itself lies at an altitude of around 2,000 metres, and in winter snow falls, gales blow and the roads are sometimes closed. During the summer months this arid landscape, which gives the impression of having stepped into a lunar landscape or a cowboy film, can reach temperatures in excess of 40C. Enjoy the breathtaking views of the lava plains of Unaca and admire the famous wind eroded rock formations. You can walk back to the Parador Hotel for a coffee or tea (at your own expense) before boarding the coach for the return journey.

Please note:

- ✓ This excursion includes a long drive on mountain roads to approx. 2000 meters above sea level. This tour is not suitable for heart patients or people with breathing problems, due to altitude that will be reached.
- ✓ Wear weather-appropriate clothes (warm clothing recommended) and comfortable walking shoes and bring water.
- ✓ It is forbidden to remove any stones or plants from the National Park.
